Receiving & Unloading Guide

Product Size:	12'–15' Long Roll
Weight:	350–2500 lbs
Delivery Truck Size:	53' Semi

All receiving & unloading is the responsibility of the Purchaser or their appointed Contractor. Zogics delivery drivers are NOT responsible for unloading materials.

Unloading

Receiving party is responsible for unloading materials off the truck and into the building. The driver will NOT assist with unloading of materials and does not have unloading equipment.

Load Configuration

Floor loaded (not palletized). Each roll will be loaded into the truck and placed on the bed of the truck as an individual roll. While each load is different, expect the rolls to be stacked on one another.

Tools & Required Materials

- Labor - 4 people using a combination of hand trucks/dollies/pallet jack
- Hand trucks/dollies - QTY 2–3
- Rope/Chain - 40'–50' long with 2x4 piece of wood secured at end of rope is highly recommended to assist with getting rolls off the truck
- Forklift - recommended for multiple roll loads, keep in mind rolls could be positioned at back of truck, thus labor is still needed to move rolls to nose of truck to utilize forklift

Recommended Unloading Process

Feed the rop/chain with the 2x4 tied to the end through the center cardboard tube (turf is wrapped around tube) coming out the other side. Tie this rope off to a forklift/truck/van and pull the entire roll out of the semi, letting it hit the ground.

Shipment Inspection / Damage

ANY damage is to be noted on the driver's paperwork along with images sent to Zogics immediately. ALWAYS accept your shipment. If damage is not documented on the shipper's paperwork, Zogics will not be responsible for replacement.
